APPENDIX II

A MODEL OF PRESENTATION

There are some steps that should be followed in teaching vocabulary through pictorial contexts.

Step I: - Presenting pictorial contexts to the students.
  - Asking some questions which establish the general sense of the pictorial contexts given. This is done in order to focus students’ attention to the pictorial contexts given. From the material given (in appendix I), the teacher can ask:
    - What does the story tell about?
    - Do you think Mr and Mrs West come from the rich family?
    - How do you know?
  - Then asking the questions of each pictorial context in order to focus the students’ attention to each pictorial context.
  From pictorial context number 1, she can ask:
    - Who has died?
    - Who is the woman with spectacles?

From pictorial context number 2, she can ask:
  - What is in the car?
  - Where is the car going?
From pictorial context number 3, she can ask:
  - Where is Mr West's family now?
  - What are they doing?
From pictorial context number 4, she can ask:
  - Who got married?
  - Where did it happen?
From pictorial context number 5, she can ask:
  - Where were the people now?
  - Whose party was it?
From pictorial context number 6, she can ask:
  - What did Mr West give to his wife?
  - What was the ring for?
From Pictorial context number 7, she can ask:
  - Who was the woman beside Mrs West?
  - What did she do?
From pictorial context number 8, she can ask:
  - What was behind those people?
- What did the man do?

From pictorial context number 9, she can ask:

- What did the small girl give Mrs West?
- Was it the end of the party?

Step II: - Explain the difficult words:

1. carriage is a noun, it is a vehicle, especially one with four wheels, pulled by a horse or horses, for carrying people = kereta yang ditarik oleh kuda.

2. kneel is a verb, it means go down on the knees; rest on the knees = berlutut, bersujud.

3. matter is a noun, it means affair = hal, persoalan.

4. ready is an adjective, it means in the condition for doing something = siap.

- She also gives the students opportunity to ask the meaning of the words that they have not known yet. In answering their questions, the teacher can use one of the following four techniques:

- The first technique:

  let the students guess the meaning of the word from the context. Take, for example, the word "invite" (from: They invite more than a hundred guests). She can use other simple sentences by using the same word:

- Mary is going to invite me to her birthday party
- She invited her friends to dinner.

The second technique:
Get the students to check up the meaning of the word in their dictionaries.

The third technique:
Explain the meaning of the difficult word by giving explanation in simpler English, synonym or antonym.

Invite: ask somebody to come somewhere.

- The fourth technique:
Use translation or give the meaning in the "students" native language directly, if the word asked by the students does not have its synonym or its antonym or it can not be explained in simpler English.

Invite = mergundang
