ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

“I question not God’s means or ways,
Or how He uses time or days,
To answer every call or prayer-
I know He will, somehow, somewhere.”

By: Whitney

Above all, the writer would like to thank Lord Jesus Christ for His wisdom, guidance, and blessings that have enabled her to accomplish this thesis. His unconditional love, care, and patience have been there during the hardest time of her life so that she is now able to survive and sit for the thesis examination. The writer can never thank Him enough.

The writer would also like to thank her two advisors who have taken great roles in helping her finish this thesis. First, the writer would like to thank Dr. Agustinus Ngadiman, her first advisor, for his valuable time and patience, in giving input and correction on the writer’s work. Next the writer would also like to thank Drs. Stefanus Laga Tukan, M. Pd, the writer’s second advisor, for his patience in guiding her, for his ideas when the writer was in trouble with the thesis, for his willingness to spend his time listening to the writer’s personal problems.

Besides, the writer would like to thank her family, especially her mom, Mrs. Lestarini S.S, SH, for her prayers, loves, and supports and her ate dad, Pdt. Rudy Benjamin, for his love and care in raising her up, for giving her a solid rock of life, and for leaving her his great sermon notes that have helped her so much during the making of this thesis. Thanks Dad, pray for me from heaven. The writer is also thankful to her brother Stefanus Ronald, for his willingness to help her with his jokes and patience in listening to her every time she got stressed in writing this thesis.

Furthermore, the writer would like to thank her special one for his love and his willingness to be there when she needed him, and his gentle threat of “No ice cream until you finish your thesis!” To all of her “Happy☺Gank” friends, for always being there listening to her problems, helping her, encouraging and supporting her during the gloomy days. To Lilyana Hartanto, the best-sisterlike-friend, for her support though she lives in a far place.

Moreover, the writer would like to express her thanks to all of the lecturers of the English Education Study Program of the Teacher Training and Education faculty of Widya Mandala Surabaya Catholic University for their guidance, support, advice and help during her study years. All in all, the writer would like to thank everyone who has helped her in the making of this thesis but their names cannot be mentioned one by one because of space limit.

The writer

ABSTRACT

Mariska, Eunike. 2007. The Factors that Make “The Lord’s Prayer” the Most Appropriate Prayer for a Christian to Worship God. S-1 Thesis. English Department Faculty of Teacher Training and Education Widya Mandala Surabaya Catholic University. Advisors: (i) Dr. Agustinus Ngadiman, (ii) Drs. Stefanus Laga Tukan, M.Pd

Key words: key verse, key term, function, and meaning.

This study analyzes the Lord’s Prayer to answer the major problem statements: “What makes the Lord’s Prayer the most appropriate prayer for a Christian to worship God?” In order to answer the major statement of problem, the writer first of all tried to answer the following problem statements, they are:

1. What are the key verses of the Lord’s Prayer?
2. What function is implied by each key verse of the Lord’s Prayer?
3. What are the key terms of each key verse of the Lord’s Prayer?
4. What meaning(s) does each key term of the Lord’s Prayer carry?

To answer the major statement of problem, the writer made use of a set of comparison table that are derived from many source, such as the previous study by Eby, Wilson, Hutauruk, The Zondervan’s, and many more. To go on further, the writer does the process of data analysis by analyzing the parameter of the Confession, Adoration, Supplication, and Thanksgiving (CAST), the key verses and the function of the key verses, then followed by findings of the key terms, and finally ended in finding the meanings of the prayer. Basing on the analysis, then the writer found that the prayer has three functions: Salutation, which consists of one key verse and two key terms; Petition, which is divided again into two kinds, they are the Petition to the Father for His glory that has three key verses and eight key terms and the petition to the Father for human needs that has three key verses and seven key terms; and the Doxology which has one key verse and four key terms. For the space is limited while the explanation is broad, therefore the meaning of this prayer can be read through the end of Chapter IV. By the findings of these four minor statements of the problem, the major statement of the problem is then answered that is the Lord’s Prayer is the most appropriate prayer for a Christian to pray to God.

Finally, the writer realizes that she is imperfect and this research is far from being perfect, since there are still some shortcomings both in the structure of language that are used to analyze and present the findings of this study. Therefore, the writer would like to suggest that the next researcher make a deeper exploration about this prayer and analyze it more deeply and thoroughly.
