The Three Billy-Goats Gruff

There were once three Billy-goat brothers called the Billy-Goats Gruff. The first one was called Little Billy-Goat Gruff because he was the smallest. The second one was called Middle-Sized Billy-Goat Gruff because he was middlesized, and the last was called Big Billy-Goat Gruff because he was so big.

One day the three Billy-goats were playing in a field, when Little Billy-Goat Gruff noticed some very green grass on the other side of a river. “I would like to eat that beautiful green grass,” he thought to himself. So he set off over a narrow bridge that led to the other side of the river. Trit-trot, trit-trot, trit-trot.

When little Billy-Goat Gruff was halfway across the bridge, he heard a deep and terrible voice call out, “Who’s that on my bridge?” “It’s me, Little Billy-Goat Gruff,” the goat replied. “Who are you?” “I’m a troll,” the deep voice said. “I live under this bridge and I’m coming up to eat you.”

“I wouldn’t do that if I were you,” said Little Billy-Goat Gruff. “Why not?” bellowed the troll. “Because I have a brother who is much bigger and tastier than me, and he’ll be coming across the bridge at any moment,” replied the goat. “Oh, very well,” said the troll. “You may pass.” So Little Billy-Goat Gruff skipped over the bridge to the very green grass on the other side.

Next, Middle-Sized Billy-Goat Gruff noticed his little brother eating the delicious-looking grass on the other side of a river. “I would like to eat that beautiful green grass, too," he thought to himself. So he too set off over a narrow bridge that led to the other side of the river. Trit-trot, trit-trot, trit-trot.

When he was halfway across the bridge, thundering voice called out, "Who's that on my bridge?" "It's me, Middle-Sized Billy-Goat Gruff," the goat replied. "Who are you?" "I'm a troll," the deep voice said. "I live under this bridge and I'm coming up to eat you."

"I wouldn't do that if I were you," said Middle-Sized Billy-Goat Gruff. "Why not?" bellowed the troll. "Because I have a brother who is much bigger and tastier than me, and he'll be coming across the bridge at any moment," replied the goat. "Oh, very well," said the troll. "You may pass." So Middle-Sized Billy-Goat Gruff skipped over the bridge to the very green grass on the other side.

Last of all, Big Billy-Goat Gruff looked up and noticed his little brothers eating the delicious-looking grass on the other side of a river. "I would like to eat that beautiful green grass, too," he thought to himself. So he too set off over a narrow bridge that led to the other side of the river. Trit-trot, trit-trot, trit-trot.

When he was halfway across the bridge, a terrible growling voice roared, "Who's that on my bridge?" "It's me, Big Billy-Goat Gruff," the goat replied. "Who are you?" "I'm a troll," the deep voice said. "I live under this bridge and I'm coming up to eat you."

Big Billy-Goat Gruff didn't say anything. So the ugly troll climbed onto the narrow bridge and walked towards Big Billy-Goat Gruff. Big Billy-Goat Gruff still didn't say anything. He just lowered his head- and butted the troll high into the sky. And that was the end of the ugly old troll!
Then Big Billy-Goats Gruff continued over the bridge to where his brothers were. Three Billy-Goats Gruff ate as much grass as they wanted and they lived happily ever after.

I say, oh no! don't eat me, my body is small. Maybe my brother with big body can be your lunch. "Okay!" say the troll, you can eat the grasses.

And then the second brother goes up into the bridge and the troll jumps up. "I want to eat you," say the troll. Oh, no! maybe my big brother can be your lunch. "Okay!" say the troll. You can eat the grasses. And then the big brother cross the bridge and the troll jumps up. "I want

Total of the scores ($\Sigma x$) = 3235
Total of the students ($N$) = 39
Mean = $\frac{\Sigma x}{N} = \frac{3235}{39} = 83$
Midpoint = $\frac{High + Low}{2} = \frac{95 + 70}{2} = 82.5$
Range = Highest – Lowest + 1 = 95 – 70 + 1 = 26
Mode (score which occurs most frequently) = 90
Median (point below 50% of the scores fall and above which 50% fall) = 85

The results show that most of the students had learned the material well and that the teaching learning went well (Brown, 1996:141).
