CONCLUSION
CHAPTER 5

CONCLUSION

This chapter consists of two sections. The first section is the summary, in which all of the main points that have been discussed in the previous chapters are summarized. The second part gives some suggestions that might be useful for the people who deal with sociolinguistics, especially the ones who are doing some research on borrowing and also the announcers of radio station who often borrow some words from a foreign language in presenting some radio programmes.

5.1. Summary

This study analyzes the borrowing of some English words which is done by the announcers of EBS Fm radio station. As such this study describes what words are mainly borrowed by the announcers under study and what factors make the announcers borrow the English words during the broadcast.

After recording the conversation of the announcers which consist of five persons, the writer classified the programme and analyzes the English words which were borrowed by those announcers and finds that:
1. The English words that are mostly borrowed by the announcers during the broadcast are the English words which are familiar for them and become a commitment for all EBS Fm's announcers, such as: single, request, on time, session, guys and gals, stay tune, one o one point twenty five unconsciously.

2. Their habit in speaking English in their society; school and office, and the existence of the listeners which cover youth make them borrow some English words unconsciously when they have a conversation in Indonesian, in order to keep their prestige and as a trend of today's world.

3. The borrowing of some English words done by the announcers couldn't be separated from the condition that they are bilingual. By that borrowing of some English words the native words are lost and replaced by foreign words.

5.2. Suggestions

This study is about the language which is used by the announcers of EBS Fm Radio Station, especially about the borrowing some of English words during the broadcast. The writer believes that this study was far from perfect. Therefore, there are many shortcomings in terms of its scope, instruments and techniques of data analysis.

For further researches, it is suggested that:

- Future research of borrowing could be emphasized on other languages besides English, and on different objects of the study.

For example: the borrowing of some Javanese words or some Arab words in Indonesian.
